Bob Will you keep this with your file on the USIB project? I think this is related to it & I see no need to discuss this with the ODP
now. I believe however the Disposition Guide page 4, Item 8c should be corrected to eliminate the word "permanent" - Then Disposition instructions in OORs Schedule ~~will be~~ should reflect your proposal for these items (Intelligence Reports) - LR/3/ew

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Records Management Staff

SUBJECT : CS Reports and Photographic Files

REFERENCE : Your Memorandum of 19 Jan 1960, Disposition of [ ] Reports and Photographic Files

25X1

1. Despite the indications in the Disposition Guide proposed by the DD/P/RMO [ ] OCR is not at this time "the permanent repository" for the [ ] disseminations or the photographic files. The various files constituting these two categories (Items #455, 456, 457, and # 237, 246, 251, 253) are defined as temporary items in the current Records Control Schedule of this Office, RCS #24-59.

2. Insofar as the file of [ ] disseminations is concerned, OCR has no objections to assuming archival responsibility for that portion of the material received since 1954 and filmed for aperture cards. A minute portion of this file, less than 1%, is not filmable and retained therefore in hard copy. This is primarily a reference file, but it certainly could constitute the permanent record as well, if such a dual purpose would best serve Agency interests. It must be fully understood and accepted, however, that this file does not comprise a complete set of [ ] documents, primarily because OCR has not received all reports for incorporation into the file. This condition exists throughout the file, in the current sections as well as those of past years. In addition there are other factors which preclude the completeness of the file, although the number of reports involved is small: first, there are items that cannot be filmed and are forwarded to another Agency or CIA component for retention (routing records are available in Document Division and the CIA Library); second, a certain number of reports are recalled by the originating office and therefore deleted from the file; and third, there are single enclosures that are forwarded directly to another activity (the transmittal document with citation is all that is in our file).

3. A pilot project is underway in the CIA Library to determine generally the number of missing reports and the feasibility of accessioning them, as well as of assuring on a current basis the complete receipt of all disseminated [ ]

25X1

Let me emphasize again that the class of materials discussed up to this point consists solely of [ ] disseminations available on aperture cards, roughly those since 1954. The majority of the [ ] series now being filmed were phased into the aperture card system beginning in calendar year 1954.

As discussed with yourself and [ ] on 11 April 1960, the disseminations prior to those on aperture cards can best be collated into a permanent file by the Records Center.

25X1

4. Contrary to the import of the Disposition Guide of the DD/P/RMO, the photographic files cited in the referenced memorandum have no record implications, as brought to light in a telephone conversation on 13 April 1960 with [ ]. He informed me at that time that the only intention of his activity was "to encourage" the transfer of operationally outdated photographic materials to Graphics Register on a retain or destroy basis. The materials, according to [ ] would otherwise be destroyed by DD/P components.

5. OCR's recommendations are as follows:

- a) that the DD/P/RMO be notified that OCR does not have archival responsibility for these materials;
- b) that, depending upon the result of the current pilot project discussed in para. (3) above, the CIA Library, to the fullest degree possible complete its holdings of [ ] series on aperture cards and ensure the continuing receipt of all [ ] disseminations;
- c) that, if it is in the best interests of the Agency, the CS disseminations on aperture cards, plus the less than 1% hard copy that is not filmable be retained by the CIA Library as the permanent file, with the acknowledgment that a small number of documents and/or single enclosures will not be accessioned for the reasons stated in para. (2) above; and
- d) that, Graphics Register receive materials as in the past on a retain or destroy basis, with no archival responsibilities other than imposed by Records Control Schedule #24-59.
